STG Retail Tip: Power To Your PC

The power coming into a computer is the most critical component of your PC and it may be one of the most overlooked. We take for granted that it will always be there and work properly. A top-of-the-line processor and ultra-powerful video card as well as POS peripherals connected to the system, do nothing if a system does not receive the ample, stable power it demands. It is critical to have quality components providing and regulating the power supplied to a computer. A computer system is only as strong as its weakest feature and many times that distinction falls on the power supply and related components. By choosing a quality power supply, surge protector, and perhaps a UPS, you can make sure that your PC has strong and stable power to keep the operating system running today and into the future.

STG Microsoft RMS Tip: Storing Additional Information Using Captions

Captions are additional text fields that can be used in the customer, item and supplier databases. This additional information can be used to track birthdays, sport teams, school names or favorites, such as, color or supplier.

To set up Captions: open Store Operations Manager>File>Configuration>Caption (which is in the lower left-hand corner). This will bring up a window where you enter the titles into the text fields. Enter the Field Names that you want to record. The caption fields are also available to view in reports.
